Ruffer Total Return International

SHARE PRICE PERFORMANCE SINCE LAUNCH ON 14 JULY 2011

Past performance does not predict future returns

March saw global stock markets hit fresh all-time highs propelled by a series of 'Goldilocks' assumptions: a 'just right' cocktail of robust US economic growth, no persistent inflation problem, and rate cuts to come. Last year's maul of bears has nearly all capitulated. At the moment, a 'no landing' scenario in which the US economy never really slows down and global growth picks up seems plausible but would run the risk of more persistent inflation – especially if central banks remain committed to easing. US one-year breakeven inflation expectations have now doubled to 4% since the start of January.

Cyclical stocks and commodities have begun to shine as this more 'reflationary' dynamic emerges. Gold hit a new all-time high despite structural selling of gold bullion ETFs by western investors. Demand from non-Western central banks and consumers is now driving price action — a canary in the global monetary coal mine. Against this backdrop the fund made positive progress driven by its equity and commodity exposure. The latter includes gold mining equities alongside copper exposure. We added silver exposure over the month — now nearly 4% of the fund. Historically, silver lags gold, then outperforms. It also has a strong fundamental story: growing demand from the 'electrification of everything' married to unreliable supply given the nature and location of its supply. A partial recovery in our long-dated inflation-linked bonds also helped performance.

Performance detractors included the yen position, despite the Bank of Japan's (BOJ) first rate hike in 17 years. Having rallied in expectation of the end of negative rates, the yen retreated as the BOJ declined to set out a clear path for future hikes. The yen remains historically cheap and will prosper if anything narrows the yield gap with Western central banks or causes a market shock. The absence of such a shock meant that our powerful derivative crash protections dragged, too. These are currently focused on equity market downside and credit default swaps.

We are not in the business of market timing, but the next few months will see a confluence of factors which could see hitherto bountiful liquidity retreat surprisingly quickly, causing a potentially sharp market drop. If so, our derivative protections will be key. Meanwhile, upside surprises in the path of rates and inflation or neglected geopolitical risks could also be unpleasant surprises for complacent markets. Beyond the significant tactical risks, we remain focused on the big picture. With the US government currently adding c $1tn of debt every 100 days, investors are refocusing on central banks' unofficial – but central – role: keeping government debt markets functioning and interest costs under control. If they have to choose between allowing more inflation or compromising financial stability, they'll choose the former. The fund remains set up to protect and prosper in a rapidly changing world.

DISCLAIMER

RISK INDICATOR FROM THE PRIIPS KEY INFORMATION DOCUMENT DATED 19 FEBRUARY 2024

LOWER RISK HIGHER RISK

1 2 3 4 5 6 7

The risk indicator assumes you keep the product for five years.

The actual risk can vary significantly if your cash in at an early stage and you may get back less. The summary risk indicator is a guide to the level of risk of this product compared to other products. It shows how likely it is that the product will lose money because of movements in the markets or because we are not able to pay you. We have classified this product as 3 out of 7, which is a medium-low risk class. This rates the potential losses from future performance at a medium-low level, and poor market conditions are unlikely to impact our capacity to pay you. Be aware of currency risk. You will receive payments in a different currency, so the final return you will get depend on the exchange rate between the two currencies. This risk is not considered in the indicator shown above. Please refer to the prospectus for more information on the specific risks relevant to the PRIIP not included in the summary risk indicator. This product does not include complete protection from future market performance, so you could lose some or all of your investment. If we are not able to pay you what is owed, you could lose your entire investment.
